

Know Your Responsibilities

- Make arrangements for the care of your children or other loved ones if you are arrested.
- Designate trusted friends or family members to make decisions if you are unable.
- Keep copies of immigration documents, criminal records, and other important documents in a safe place where a trusted friend or family member can access them, if necessary.
- Make sure your loved ones know your immigration number (A number) and how to find you if you are detained by ICE.
- Remember the details of the encounter.
- File a written complaint if you feel your rights have been violated.

If you have any questions, please contact: policy@uscrimail.org.

Know Your Rights

A Guide for Survivors of Human Trafficking, Asylum Seekers, Parolees, and Immigrants

Regardless of immigration status, all individuals in the United States have guaranteed rights under the Constitution.

The following guide is to inform survivors of human trafficking, asylum seekers, parolees, and other immigrants of their legal rights in various situations with law enforcement and U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE).

Please note: some state laws may vary. Separate rules apply at checkpoints and when entering the United States, including at airports.

This information is for educational purposes and should not be used as a substitute for legal assistance. If you or someone you know needs legal assistance, please contact an attorney.

- Stay calm.
- Do not run away, argue, resist, or obstruct a police or ICE officer, even if you believe your rights are being violated.
- Do not say anything to police or ICE officers.
- Keep your hands where police or ICE officers can see them.
- Do not lie about your status or give false documents.
- If you are over 18, always carry your papers with you.
 - If you do not have them, tell the officer that you want to remain silent, or that you want to consult an attorney before answering any questions.
- Memorize the phone number of a friend, family member, or attorney to call if you are arrested.

Know Your Responsibilities

- You have the right to remain silent. If you wish to exercise this right, say so out loud.
- Ask for an interpreter if you need one.
- You have the right to deny consent of your person or place of residence being searched unless law enforcement presents a warrant to search your home.
- If you are not under arrest, you have the right to calmly leave.
- If you are detained by ICE, you have the right to an attorney to assist with your immigration situation, but the government does not need to provide one—ask for one immediately.
- If you are detained by the police, you have the right to a free attorney (public defender) in criminal proceedings.
- If you are not an American citizen, you have the right to call the consulate of your home country. Immigration and the police must allow your consulate to visit or speak with you.
- You do not have to sign anything you do not understand.
- Police and ICE will never ask you for money.

Know Your Rights

If you are arrested or detained

Know Your Responsibilities

- Make arrangements for the care of your children or other loved ones if you are arrested.
- Designate trusted friends or family members to make decisions if you are unable.
- Keep copies of immigration documents, criminal records, and other important documents in a safe place where a trusted friend or family member can access them, if necessary.
- Make sure your loved ones know your immigration number (A number) and how to find you if you are detained by ICE.
- Remember the details of the encounter.
- File a written complaint if you feel your rights have been violated.

If you have any questions, please contact: policy@uscrimail.org.

Know Your Rights

A Guide for Survivors of Human Trafficking, Asylum Seekers, Parolees, and Immigrants

Regardless of immigration status, all individuals in the United States have guaranteed rights under the Constitution.

The following guide is to inform survivors of human trafficking, asylum seekers, parolees, and other immigrants of their legal rights in various situations with law enforcement and U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE).

Please note: some state laws may vary. Separate rules apply at checkpoints and when entering the United States, including at airports.

This information is for educational purposes and should not be used as a substitute for legal assistance. If you or someone you know needs legal assistance, please contact an attorney.

- Stay calm.
- Do not run away, argue, resist, or obstruct a police or ICE officer, even if you believe your rights are being violated.
- Do not say anything to police or ICE officers.
- Keep your hands where police or ICE officers can see them.
- Do not lie about your status or give false documents.
- If you are over 18, always carry your papers with you.
 - If you do not have them, tell the officer that you want to remain silent, or that you want to consult an attorney before answering any questions.
- Memorize the phone number of a friend, family member, or attorney to call if you are arrested.

Know Your Responsibilities

- You have the right to remain silent. If you wish to exercise this right, say so out loud.
- Ask for an interpreter if you need one.
- You have the right to deny consent of your person or place of residence being searched unless law enforcement presents a warrant to search your home.
- If you are not under arrest, you have the right to calmly leave.
- If you are detained by ICE, you have the right to an attorney to assist with your immigration situation, but the government does not need to provide one—ask for one immediately.
- If you are detained by the police, you have the right to a free attorney (public defender) in criminal proceedings.
- If you are not an American citizen, you have the right to call the consulate of your home country. Immigration and the police must allow your consulate to visit or speak with you.
- You do not have to sign anything you do not understand.
- Police and ICE will never ask you for money.

Know Your Rights

If you are arrested or detained

- Stay calm.
- Do not run away, argue, resist, or obstruct a police or ICE officer, even if you believe your rights are being violated.
- Do not say anything to police or ICE officers.
- Keep your hands where police or ICE officers can see them.
- Do not lie about your status or give false documents.
- If you are over 18, always carry your papers with you.
 - If you do not have them, tell the officer that you want to remain silent, or that you want to consult an attorney before answering any questions.
- Memorize the phone number of a friend, family member, or attorney to call if you are arrested.

Know Your Responsibilities

- You have the right to remain silent. If you wish to exercise this right, say so out loud.
- Ask for an interpreter if you need one.
- You have the right to deny consent of your person or place of residence being searched unless law enforcement presents a warrant to search your home.
- If you are not under arrest, you have the right to calmly leave.
- If you are detained by ICE, you have the right to an attorney to assist with your immigration situation, but the government does not need to provide one—ask for one immediately.
- If you are detained by the police, you have the right to a free attorney (public defender) in criminal proceedings.
- If you are not an American citizen, immigration and the police must allow your consulate to visit or speak with you.
- You do not have to sign anything you do not understand.
- Police and ICE will never ask you for money.

Know Your Rights

If you are arrested or detained

- File a written complaint if you feel your rights have been violated.
- Remember the details of the encounter.
- Make sure your loved ones know your immigration number (A number) and how to find you if you are detained by ICE.
- Keep copies of immigration documents, criminal records, and other important documents in a safe place where a trusted friend or family member can access them, if necessary.
- Designate trusted friends or family members to make decisions if you are unable.
- Make arrangements for the care of your children or other loved ones if you are arrested.

If you have any questions, please contact: policy@uscmail.org.

Know Your Rights

A Guide for Survivors of Human Trafficking, Asylum Seekers, Parolees, and Immigrants

Regardless of immigration status, all individuals in the United States have guaranteed rights under the Constitution. The following guide is to inform survivors of human trafficking, asylum seekers, parolees, and other immigrants of their legal rights in various situations with law enforcement and U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE).

Please note: some state laws may vary. Separate rules apply at checkpoints and when entering the United States, including at airports.

This information is for educational purposes and should not be used as a substitute for legal assistance. If you or someone you know needs legal assistance, please contact an attorney.

- Stay calm.
- Do not run away, argue, resist, or obstruct a police or ICE officer, even if you believe your rights are being violated.
- Do not say anything to police or ICE officers.
- Keep your hands where police or ICE officers can see them.
- Do not lie about your status or give false documents.
- If you are over 18, always carry your papers with you.
 - If you do not have them, tell the officer that you want to remain silent, or that you want to consult an attorney before answering any questions.
- Memorize the phone number of a friend, family member, or attorney to call if you are arrested.

Know Your Responsibilities

- You have the right to remain silent. If you wish to exercise this right, say so out loud.
- Ask for an interpreter if you need one.
- You have the right to deny consent of your person or place of residence being searched unless law enforcement presents a warrant to search your home.
- If you are not under arrest, you have the right to calmly leave.
- If you are detained by ICE, you have the right to an attorney to assist with your immigration situation, but the government does not need to provide one—ask for one immediately.
- If you are detained by the police, you have the right to a free attorney (public defender) in criminal proceedings.
- If you are not an American citizen, immigration and the police must allow your consulate to visit or speak with you.
- You do not have to sign anything you do not understand.
- Police and ICE will never ask you for money.

Know Your Rights

If you are arrested or detained

- File a written complaint if you feel your rights have been violated.
- Remember the details of the encounter.
- Make sure your loved ones know your immigration number (A number) and how to find you if you are detained by ICE.
- Keep copies of immigration documents, criminal records, and other important documents in a safe place where a trusted friend or family member can access them, if necessary.
- Designate trusted friends or family members to make decisions if you are unable.
- Make arrangements for the care of your children or other loved ones if you are arrested.

If you have any questions, please contact: policy@uscmail.org.

Know Your Rights

A Guide for Survivors of Human Trafficking, Asylum Seekers, Parolees, and Immigrants

Regardless of immigration status, all individuals in the United States have guaranteed rights under the Constitution. The following guide is to inform survivors of human trafficking, asylum seekers, parolees, and other immigrants of their legal rights in various situations with law enforcement and U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE).

Please note: some state laws may vary. Separate rules apply at checkpoints and when entering the United States, including at airports.

This information is for educational purposes and should not be used as a substitute for legal assistance. If you or someone you know needs legal assistance, please contact an attorney.