MESSAGE FROM OUR CEO

Dear Friends,

This year, we commemorate 114 years of unwavering service to refugees and immigrants. From Eastern Europeans in the early 20th century to Vietnamese, Cambodians, and East Africans fleeing war, genocide, ethnic cleansing, and persecution, to unaccompanied children from Central America driven by gang violence and poverty, we have stood by all displaced people regardless of where they come from. The core of our mission and values is human dignity.

In the 1995 USCRI edition of the World Refugee Survey, Roger Winter, a distinguished advocate of USCRI, wrote, "... the world is not comprised of isolated islands ... When we ignore our basic values abroad, they begin to erode at home."

Now, more than ever, we cannot ignore the many atrocities occurring around the world. Today, an unprecedented 122 million people are forcibly displaced world-wide due to persecution, conflict, violence, and other human rights violations. This figure is projected to increase in 2025, while concurrently, the political will to protect the displaced continues to erode globally.

In a historic Fiscal Year, USCRI reached over 139,000 clients in all fifty states, El Salvador, Honduras, Kenya, and Mexico—more than ever before. This includes over 33,000 refugees, 22,000 unaccompanied children, and 2,100 survivors of human trafficking.

Throughout our history, we have promised refugees and immigrants a better tomorrow and a chance at a new life with justice and dignity.

During this moment of uncertainty, your incredible generosity is helping USCRI meet this historic challenge.

As we reflect on the path ahead, we do so with an unwavering commitment to continuing our work as champions for those who seek safety and opportunity in a new land.

With much gratitude,

Eskinder Negash President & CEO

Welcoming Communities: Supported 8 local student committees made up of a total of 93 students, 2,000 people mobilized during the Intercultural Mobility Week on university campuses throughout Mexico.

The Habesha Project resettles young refugees from around the world to Mexico through higher education scholarships to local universities. In collaboration with the Government of Mexico and The United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR), the program executes a comprehensive service plan to ensure both international protection and local integration throughout the students' studies.

In 2023, the Habesha Project took a significant step by opening its first call for applications for young refugees living in Kakuma Refugee Camp in Kenya. After an extensive selection process, which included multiple interviews and evaluations, four students—Taban, Nun, Mary, and Yar—were chosen to resettle in Mexico and pursue their higher education.

Their journey to a new life was not simple. For six months, they navigated complex logistical processes, awaiting the issuance of their exit permits and Mexican visas. During this time, they participated in a Pre-Departure Program organized by the Habesha Project, through which the students took remote Spanish lessons and engaged in cultural adaptation sessions to help ease their transition.

Finally, in March 2024, the group of four arrived in Aguascalientes, Mexico, ready to embark on a new chapter. For the first nine months, they immersed themselves in an intensive Spanish language course while gradually integrating into their new environment. Two students found part-time jobs, while the other two worked remotely, gaining valuable experience alongside their Spanish studies. In November, they completed their university entrance exams, thanks to the academic partnerships that USCRI Mexico has established with universities in the country.

By early 2025, three of them had successfully enrolled in prestigious academic programs—Mechatronics Engineering, Data Science Engineering, and Industrial Engineering—at Instituto Tecnológico y de Estudios Superiores de Occidente, ITESO (Western Institute of Technology and Higher Education) in Guadalajara and La Salle Saltillo University in Saltillo. The fourth student is currently finalizing preparations to begin her university studies shortly. Thanks to the Habesha Project, all four students now have refugee status in Mexico, ensuring their permanent residency in the country and a clear pathway to Mexican citizenship as they continue to build their lives in their new home.

Their journey is a testament to resilience, determination, and the power of education as a tool for transforming lives. As they continue their studies and adapt to life in Mexico, their stories serve as an inspiration for future refugee students seeking new opportunities through education.

KEEP GIRLS DREAMING

To respond to the pressing needs of refugee girls in Kakuma and Dadaab refugee camps in Kenya, USCRI supports menstrual health and combats chronic school absenteeism by providing access to essential menstrual hygiene products.

There are over 90,000 school-aged girls living in refugee camps in Kenya. They have fled violence and persecution in search of safety and a chance to build a future. Yet this is often threatened when they get their period, as most do not have access to period products. This impacts every part of their lives, from their health to their ability to attend school.

In October 2023, USCRI launched the Keep Girls Dreaming initiative and collaborated with Chandaria Industries, a local Kenyan manufacturer of hygiene products made from recyclable materials, to address this need. In just a few months, Keep Girls Dreaming raised enough funds to purchase and distribute over half a million sanitary pads to refugee girls Kakuma and Dadaab. In January 2024, USCRI delivered enough sanitary pads to support nearly 5,000 girls for one year.

While this first delivery was a great success, work still needs to be done to guarantee that these girls have access to menstrual hygiene products and education.

USCRI continues to uplift its Keep Girls Dreaming initiative and strives to develop sustainable programs so that girls in the camps are provided with
